"Last Chance" For Italians to Leave Spain Is French Plan

Proposal Submitted to Britain Is For Speedy Action If Talks Fail

Italian and French Bonds Hit Slump

PARIS (AP)—A French proposal that Italy be given "a last chance" to agree to withdraw troops from Spain or face "action" has been drafted for submission to the British Foreign Office today, it was learned in circles close to the French Foreign Office.

The "suggestions" which were not submitted to the cabinet as a whole were expected to be studied by the British cabinet on Wednesday. British "suggestions" in turn will be referred to the French cabinet which is to meet Thursday.

The Foreign Office said that if the frontier is opened the French government will take no part in supplying men and armaments, but will permit other countries and private groups to send them through French territory.

A definite decision was expected at the council of ministers Thursday, following the British cabinet meeting Wednesday.

An official source said plans to open the frontier were drafted "to re-establish the equilibrium broken by the massive intervention of the Rome government with men and material" for the Spanish insurgents in the civil war.

NEW APPROACH

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain and France continued their search today for a new approach to the problem of Italian intervention in Spain, with less emphasis on previous hints that France would open the Pyrenees frontier.

Stocks Stronger Today at London

As Continental European Buying Increases Prices Grow Firmer

LONDON (AP)—The London stock market, which has been moving down with Wall Street share prices lately, took courage today from an influx of Continental buying and rebounded strongly.

While final prices in many instances were below previous closing levels, particularly for United States shares, losses on a further sharp decline in early dealings were partly or wholly recovered on the rally. Most closing prices showed only moderate net changes, up and down.

The rebound from the day's low points was accepted as indication many operators had returned to the buying side.

Late continental buying in combination with renewed London interest bolstered prices of U.S. securities, carrying some up for net gains.

An extension of the upward trend was reported in street dealings after the official close.

W. Glur and Company, small dealers, were unable to meet commitments totaling about $10,000 ($45,500) and asked the Rubber Exchange to arrange settlement of outstanding contracts at prices to be determined by an exchange committee. Dealers said the rubber market was not affected.

Five Buildings Lost In Brentwood Blaze

Home and Workshop of H. Gilbert Destroyed in Spectacular Early Morning Fire

Fire believed to have been started by mice among matches in a cupboard early this morning destroyed the home and workshop of Harry Gilbert and completely gutted three boat-houses at Moodyville, on Saanich Arm, near Brentwood.

The blaze broke out about 1 this morning and only the response of the Saanich fire department saved the whole surrounding section of the village from destruction. Fire fighters were busy until daybreak fighting the flames.

The loss was unofficially estimated between $5,000 and $6,000. Mr. Gilbert's property was partly covered by insurance.

Other boat-houses destroyed were those of William Levy, Thomas Peden and W. Campbell.

FLAMES JUMPED ROAD

At one stage during the fire the flames jumped the road at the rear of the Gilbert home and threatened the Levy home and other nearby cottages. It was only the speedy efforts of Mr. Levy with Rom Knott and Alex (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Migration Plans Conference Topic Now In London

Big Scheme of Empire Development Debated in British Capital

LONDON (CP)—Great schemes of Empire development were envisaged at today's sitting of the Empire Migration Conference. In the proper selection of migrants and in properly organized schemes of group settlement lay the way to success, it was stated. But even those were not enough. Empire settlement must go hand in hand with Empire development.

Sir Henry Page Croft, M.P., envisaged the creation of a big corporation with government financial backing and credit to the tune of $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 ($495,500,000 to $2,477,500,000) behind it. The biggest men from the City—London's financial district—would be brought in to prepare great schemes for improving transport, including airports, railways, docks, canals and irrigation.

Sir John Wardlaw Milne, M.P., suggested the most satisfactory method of stimulating Empire migration would be by a government guaranteed Empire settlement loan under the Empire Settlement Board, including representatives of the overseas Dominions and the principal charitable and other societies which had done valuable migration work previously.

PERCY ABELL PASSES AWAY

Well-known Rotarian Succumbed Early Today at His Home

Percy C. Abell, well-known Rotarian and business man, passed away early this morning at his home, 301 Kingston Street, after a long illness, aged 55 years.

Mr. Abell was born in Hamilton, Ontario, and came to Victoria in 1912 as manager of the Macey Office Equipment Company, and later organized the Macey-Abell Company Limited. In 1929 he moved to Vancouver as organizer for the B.C. Safety League, a position he had to relinquish in 1935 owing to ill-health. He had made his home in Victoria since that time.

Mr. Abell was a charter member of the Victoria Rotary Club, and became its president in 1916. He was also a member of the Pacific Club and the Colwood Golf and Country Club until ill-health prevented his active participation in club activities.

He is survived by his widow, at home, and two brothers in eastern Canada.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2 in the Sands Mortuary Chapel. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Toronto's Schools Reopen to 120,000

Paralysis Wave Almost Ended; Vernon and Armstrong Schools Reopen

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's 120,000 schoolchildren went to classes today in a belated opening of the fall term as education authorities considered a month-old epidemic of infantile paralysis nearly over.

Scheduled to open September 1, the public and high schools were kept closed from week to week until today, when the doors opened to excited throngs of children, tired of vacation.

Two weeks ago Toronto newspapers started publishing lesson outlines for pupils in all grades.

School bells rang today also for some 2,000 children in two Okanagan cities as health authorities considered danger of a possible spread of infantile paralysis had passed.

At Vernon more than 1,200 elementary and high school students

House to Hear Of Health Plan

Hon. G. M. Weir Reserves Comment For Legislature

Government plans for the study of health insurance following delay in bringing a scheme into operation will be outlined to the Legislature by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, it was indicated today.

Approached today for a statement, Dr. Weir said he was reserving all comment on the subject for the House.

Conservative members are planning to force discussion of the issue in the Legislature by questioning the government on the costs for which it is committed on maintaining the health insurance commission.

Contracted expenditures, according to the government figures, were as follows: For the chairman, $6,000 a year for seven years, a total of $42,000; for the vice-chairman, $5,500 a year for five years, a total of $27,500; one-year lease of headquarters, $4,400; other items, including the two other members of the commission, $10,000; a grand total of $83,900. This dated from the summer of 1936 when the commission was formed.

It was reported today the government planned to utilize space in the commission headquarters on Gordon Street for other departments which are overcrowded at the Legislative Buildings, but it was officially stated nothing had been decided yet along this line.

TRAVEL HEAVY OVER HOLIDAY

Victorians Took to Water and Highways; Big Influx From Mainland

Boats, buses, trains, street cars and private automobiles were utilized by travel-minded Victorians taking full advantage of the glorious outing weather over the Thanksgiving holiday.

In a check-up of the travel business over the week-end, it was indicated the travel movement by both land and water was greater this year than at previous Thanksgivings in recent years, because of the unusually fine weather at this late season.

Travel by water routes yesterday was ideal, the movement from Vancouver to Victoria being especially heavy with the operation of a special excursion steamer, in addition to the regular services.

Between 750 and 800 Vancouverites came here yesterday by Ss. Princess Adelaide, spending five hours in the city.

Many of the visitors were to be found at the Royal Athletic Park during the afternoon, rooting for the North Shore football team, and many took the bus drives to the ever-popular resort, Butchart's Gardens. The grounds of Benvenuto were crowded throughout the day.

TRIBUTE FOR RESCUE HEAD

Work of Ray Petrie in Saving Youths Lost on Island Warmly Praised

Tribute to the work of Ray Petrie, whose expert knowledge as a woodsman and thorough familiarity with the hinterland of Vancouver Island, was responsible for speedy assistance rendered two young prospectors lost near Espinosa River last week, was paid by Donald Hardie, prospector, who arrived in Victoria over the week-end.

Mr. Hardie was the senior prospector in the camp from which George Wiltshire, Victoria, and Ed. Mason and Stanley Lathrop of Vancouver, set out September 22 to mine for lode on a trip which ended when they became lost five days in the woods with little food.

Mr. Hardie acted as overseer of the young prospectors and outfitted them for their trip into the woods. In speaking of Mr. Petrie, who is employed at the Privateer mine, Mr. Hardie said:

"If it had not been for him those young men might have been alone considerably longer. After they were first sighted by the pilot in the plane (Ginger Coote of Vancouver), Petrie was (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

HEPBURN LINES UP NEW CABINET

Duke of Windsor Cheered at Berlin

Friendly Contact With Workers; Duchess Sees Charity Clothes

BERLIN (AP)—Fresh from a fashion shopping expedition in Paris, the Duchess of Windsor questioned Nazi welfare administrations today on how charity clothes are made to fit the poor.

Joining the Duke in studying German social conditions, the Duchess spent 45 minutes in the Nazi welfare society's clothing department.

With interest, she felt the quality of the clothing distributed to the poor and asked about manufacturing costs and methods of distribution—but her first concern seemed to be that charity clothes must not only be of good quality but must fit.

"To her query, 'How do you make sure they fit?' a guide explained:

"We have a whole series of standard types made, which come close enough to fitting everybody."

On Monday, German workmen at a Berlin machine plant ate luncheon with the Duke of Windsor, talked with him about wages (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Indian Office Is Transferred

B.C. Headquarters Shifted From Victoria to Vancouver

The head office for British Columbia of the Department of Indian Affairs, located in Victoria for more than 60 years, transferred to Vancouver over the week-end.

It will be located from now on in the Post Office Building of the Terminal City.

The Government Street offices formerly occupied by the office have been closed.

The office is administered by Commissioner D. M. MacKay with a staff of four.

Removal of the offices, mooted for some years was strongly protested by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and other public bodies. However, the federal government has taken the position that since most of the work has to do with Indians on the mainland the administration can best be done from Vancouver.

PLANES FIGHT OVER NANKING

Five Japanese Machines Brought Down During Big Raid

NANKING (AP)—Five Japanese warplanes were brought down Tuesday during spectacular air raids on the Chinese capital and nearby cities, the Chinese announced.
Three of the planes were shot down during dogfights with Chinese aircraft over Nanking. The other two suffered destruction at the hands of enemy pursuit planes at Chingkiang.
Taking part in the raid on Nanking were 24 Japanese aircraft. Two bombers made an ineffectual attack on Soochow and attempted to attack Chingkiang. Before they reached the city, however, they encountered Chinese planes and were shot down.
The air battle over Nanking was most spectacular.

One of the Japanese planes crashed headlong into the centre of the city after a spectacular fight with a Chinese pursuit plane.

BIGGEST YET USED
The Japanese bombers, the largest yet seen here, flew at an altitude of 6,000 feet in perfect formation. They headed over the length of the city and dropped their bombs over the south city, most important area of the capital.

SHANGHAI BATTLE
SHANGHAI (AP)—While the Japanese army launched an aerial bombardment on Chinese Chapel sector on the northern fringe of the International Settlement here Tuesday, a spokesman said that, weather permitting, the long overdue Japanese big push would get under way in the immediate future.

The duel between the Japanese bombers and the Chinese anti-aircraft guns, newly equipped in Chapel, re-exposed the foreign areas to heightened dangers. The bombardment with its surprise attack from the Chinese guns started while the streets were jammed with noonday crowds. The Japanese planes skirted the downtown areas with their deadly loads, while the Chinese shells burst over the settlement.

LANDING IS FAILURE
A Chinese spokesman announced a Japanese attempt to land large numbers of troops at Yangtze River, five miles west of Liuhoo on the Yangtze River, had ended in failure. It was obvious, the spokesman said, the Japanese were attempting to drive in from the rear of the Chinese lines, but the Chinese were prepared to prevent future attempts.

Japanese authorities asserted a landing party had occupied the Saddle Island radio station erected by the Sino-American China National Aviation Company. Chinese junk traffic on inland waterways had been practically stopped by the tightening of the Japanese blockade.

MIGRATION PLANS CONFERENCE TOPIC NOW IN LONDON

UP 50 PER CENT
Sir H. Page Croft had a word for overseas statesmen. "I would respectfully ask," he said, "why you do not aim at once to increase your population in every case by 50 per cent. Surely this is the only way to make your services of bearable and the only means of making your transport systems pay. Apart from all this it is the only path to immunity from aggression. The British Empire must either develop or decline. The hour has struck when the choice must be made."

Two Labor members of Parliament held differing views. C. G. Ammon considered it a mistake to imagine that migration from the United Kingdom to the Dominions was not possible as long as there was unemployment in the Dominions. "Unemployment, both in the United Kingdom and in the Empire, is fostered by migration being held up," he said. Every new settler established overseas was a new customer.

Tom Smith, relating his experiences on an Empire tour, said he has not found responsible Canadian citizens who believed the time had come for a resumption of immigration. In Australia he had found no enthusiasm for any big state-assisted migration scheme. While not hostile to the idea, Mr. Smith did not think the British and Dominions Governments were ready for state-aided schemes.

PRAIRIE OBJECTION
The Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, surprised the conference Monday with an unexpected voice from Saskatchewan. It was a letter which the Bishop had received from G. M. Macklin, Saskatoon. "On behalf of the Saskatoon British Empire settlers 1928-29, I being president of the women's section, we protest against sending more immigrants out to Canada when there are hundreds of settlers here already demanding to be sent back to England," the letter said.

"In a province such as Saskatchewan drought and bad crops are bad enough to bother the settlers here, without having to bring out others to face the turmoil. There are here young men and women who today have no object in life."

"What are we going to do with them? You have no idea of the disastrous results that will follow if you persist or propose to send migrants to Canada. We are faced with all manner of complaints against the British government for the 1928-29 settlement. Today these people have no homes and no crops. Weather and climatic conditions have forced these people to take city relief."

"Let Canada first put her house in order before inviting others to her shores."

MANY DIFFICULTIES
The bishop cited the letter as an instance of the difficulties which would have to be faced before migration could be resumed. There were other difficulties. People from the old country did not feel they were valued in the Dominions in the way they expected. In Australia they called them "pommies" with an unpleasant adjective attached.

Resumption of migration, the bishop said, was essential for the Empire, for the well-being of the British people, and for the extension of the Kingdom of God. "If we could transplant another 10,000,000 Britishers to Canada and not fill up northern Canada from Galicia, Poland and God knows where, we should get a strong British Empire and Canada, which we do not have today."

Viscount Bledisloe, former governor-general of New Zealand, declared no settled country with a meagre population was safe from external aggression. He gave the most vulnerable strategic points: New Zealand, North and Northwestern Australia, and the northwestern seaboard of Canada.

SAFEGUARDS URGED
The premiers of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and New Brunswick, in letters read to the conference today, gave guarded approval to the movement of British settlers to Canada.

Premier A. A. Dymally said New Brunswick looked favorably on British settlers "providing they are suitably adapted to farming and financially responsible." Naturally, he added, they must be men of good character, with clean habits, and be adequately financed and fully supervised.

UNOFFICIAL GATHERING
The Empire Migration and Development Conference was organized by prominent migration advocates who were disappointed over failure of the recent Imperial Conference to tackle the problem of Empire migration. The conference has no official status, but any decisions reached by it will be pressed by delegates on their respective governments.

PATTULLO WRITES
Copies of a letter from Premier Pattullo of British Columbia were distributed at the opening session of the conference Monday. In it he said that "for many years I have advocated that a vigorous immigration policy should be undertaken."

"It must be upon a selective basis and as far as British Columbia is concerned, we should be assured that those coming here will not become a charge upon the province," Premier Pattullo wrote.
"It is rather a simple matter to generalize and say that one is in favor of an immigration policy, but it is another matter to work it out. If the British authorities, the Dominion Government, the provincial governments and the railroads were to get together and formulate a policy, I see no reason why a programme could not be worked out that would be eminently satisfactory."

and working conditions, and shouted "Hell, Edward" when he left.

The Duke captured the workmen's affections by applauding heartily a reference of Robert Ley, leader of the German labor front, to Chancellor Hitler as the man to whom German workers owed their jobs.
Ley also drew cheers when he described the Duke as "a friend of the working man" during a welcoming address at the plant Monday.

The former king shook hands with many workmen, and asked them about their pay, hours and other conditions. He was especially friendly with Great War veterans.
The Duke and Duchess plan to sail for the United States on the German liner Bremen on November 4.

Caddell that saved these dwellings.

Principal loss to Mr. Gilbert was the destruction of his furniture and the machinery of his workshop.
First indication of the outbreak was given by Mr. Gilbert's dog, which started barking in the kitchen, when the fire broke out in the cupboard over the sink.

Mr. Gilbert came in to see what was disturbing the animal, and, on opening the cupboard, was greeted with a burst of smoke and flames.

The tide was at full ebb at the time and the fighters were faced with the difficulty of securing water.

In view of this, efforts were concentrated on removing the contents rather than saving the buildings. Once the flames secured hold, however, the heat became terrific and fighters could not get near the buildings. Assistance of every available man in the neighborhood was summoned by the telephone operator, who put through an emergency call on the village line and notified everyone.

Although most of the damage was done by the time the Saanich pumper arrived, it was of material assistance in saving the rest of the village.

"LAST CHANCE" FOR ITALIANS TO LEAVE SPAIN IS FRENCH PLAN

Sunday were factors in the negotiations.

(At New York Monday as tension between Italy and France tightened with respect to intervention in the Spanish civil war, obligations of both countries broke sharply in a sinking bond market. Italy 7s dropped 12½ points to 66 and French 7½s tumbled 3 to 104. Rome 6½s were off 2½ to 62½, and Milan 6½s gave up 5 to 60. The Associated Press averages for 10 foreign issues fell 5 of a point to 67.1, the lowest level in years. Financial markets in the United States were closed today for the Columbus Day holiday.)

One report today said Great Britain was urging Paris not to open the Spanish frontier to the flow of arms and munitions for the Valencia government.

There was a growing likelihood hood the question of foreign soldiers in Spain would be submitted to the 27-nation Nonintervention Committee in London.

Foreign Secretary Eden, after week-ending with the King at Balmoral Castle, returned to London today. The cabinet will review the position tomorrow.

Many Victorians traveled to Vancouver and boats returning this morning from the B.C. and Washington mainlands had capacity sleeping-berth lists. Princess Elizabeth from Vancouver and Iroquois from Seattle this morning had cabin space fully booked.

Princess Joan, sailing last night for Vancouver, also was full.

There was an unusually large amount of traffic also between Nanaimo and Vancouver over the holiday.

Princess Elaine handled capacity crowds on the trans-gulf route, and on the E. and N. Railway travel was unusually heavy through Nanaimo from points in the northern part of the island.

There was also average traffic on the regular north and south-bound trains from and to Victoria.

Buses operating to all parts of Vancouver Island were largely patronized. The Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited operated a special round trip excursion to Nanaimo on Monday, in addition to the three regular daily services.

A mystery trip took a large crowd by the Mill Bay ferry to Shawnigan Lake, with tea at Forest Inn, returning via the Malahat and Goldstream.

Coach Line buses also transported many people to witness the motorcycle hill climbing tests at Mount Douglas.

The Blue Line operated a special bus to Nanaimo on Monday. The B.C. Electric Railway, operating regular services throughout the day, reported ordinary traffic on Monday with a noticeable increase following the arrival of the excursion steamers.

State Leaders In Russia Removed

Premier Rakhanoff Of Azerbaidjan Goes Way of Others in Big "Purge"

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet purge of "traitors" brought the downfall Monday of the premier of the 11th and last republic composing the Soviet Union to have its president or premier removed from office.

The pattern of the purge began to take shape. It was disclosed that shots from firing squads are snuffing out separatist (secession) movements along the Soviet Union's western and eastern frontiers.

Article 17 of the new constitution says that "every union republic is reserved the right freely to secede from the U.S.S.R.," but officials see no anomaly in the drive to stamp out tendencies in that direction which would "dismember the socialist fatherland."

Removal of Useyn Rakhanoff, Premier of Azerbaidjan, oil and cotton region bordering the Caspian Sea, was announced in a newspaper published at Baku, its capital.

In Karelia, on the Finnish border; in the Ukraine, which lies beside Poland; in Tadzhikistan and Uzbekistan on the Asiatic front, officials from presidents and premiers down have been removed from office and presumably arrested as traitors.

Panas P. Luibchenko, Premier of the Ukraine, and one of the high-ranking politicians of the Soviet Union, committed suicide. What happened the others has not been disclosed.

The purge in Moscow itself continued with removal of C. C. Joffe, assistant chief of the civilian air service, and S. Spassky, the fleet's construction chief.

In Moscow Monday it was announced Russia would hold its first direct secret election of a national legislative body December 12, when a new supreme Soviet will be named.

The new supreme Soviet, provided by the recently ratified Russian constitution, will take the place of the union central executive committee which is the past has held the supreme legislative and executive power.

The new supreme Soviet will be a two-chambered house, one house elected on a population basis and the other according to geographic divisions.

Co-operation Urged By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a radio address Monday honoring a Polish-American general, bid for a "spiritual union" between the United States and other freedom-loving countries.

"We as a nation seek spiritual union with all who love freedom," he said in his first public utterance on international relationships since his speech at Chicago last week, suggesting a "quarantine" of aggressor nations.

The President spoke from the White House. The occasion was the interment in Arlington National Cemetery of the body of Gen. Wladimir B. Kryzhanowski, a Pole who fought for the Union in the war between the states.

U.S. President To Be Heard on Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" tonight probably will touch on a half-dozen subjects, it was said at the White House today, but their nature was not disclosed.

Guesses as to the principal topic ranged from foreign affairs to the federal budget, but most observers believed Mr. Roosevelt would emphasize the prospects of huge crop surpluses in the United States, and his belief in the need for legislation to control production.

Some predicted he would announce an extra session of Congress for the middle of next month to deal with the problem.

Professor Wounded; Student Ends Life

ISTANBUL (AP)—Rev. William Woolworth Jr., 43, from Wallingford, Conn., was reported in grave condition today from a gunshot wound inflicted by a 16-year-old Turkish student at the American College of Tarsous, in southern Anatolia.

The student shot the professor Monday in a fit of anger over failing marks in examinations and then took his own life.

"ETHER DRIFT" ERROR FOUND

W. B. Cartmel, Montreal, Says Einstein Theory Must Be Revised

MONTREAL (CP)—Discovery of an error in the theory of the Michelson-Morley "ether drift" experiments, which had a bearing on Einstein's theory of relativity, is claimed by W. B. Cartmel, former professor of physics at the University of Montreal.

Mr. Cartmel placed results of experiments before the French-Canadian Association for the Advancement of Science at its convention here Monday. His discovery, he claims, will set aside the apparatus used by Michelson and Morley in their famous experiments to determine the influence of the earth's motion on the velocity of light.

Mr. Cartmel, who once before crossed swords with Einstein on his relativity theory, said he had developed a new type of interferometer to replace the apparatus Michelson and Morley used to intercept light and measure its velocity. Its arms—which are mirrors in reality—are placed at an angle of 45 degrees to one another instead of at a right angle as practiced by Michelson and Morley.

"If the new experiments with the new interferometer are confirmed by other physicists it will place the (Einstein) theory of relativity in a different position," Mr. Cartmel told the convention.

Australia Watches The Mediterranean

MELBOURNE (CP)—Prime Minister Joseph Lyons declared today the Mediterranean has become "almost as much an Australian sea as the Tasman Sea"—the strip of water which separates Australia and New Zealand.

Isolation and non-cooperation with Great Britain would be suicidal, the Prime Minister added. The United States had provided two outstanding examples of the failure of isolation, yet it was suggested Australia, with nothing like the highly developed resources of the United States, should follow the same policy.

NEW TYPE OF TALKIE SHOWN

Actors' Voices Move Around Screen With Figures

If the screen figure spoke from the left to the picture, his voice came from the left side of the house. The answer of a figure on the opposite side of the screen came from the right side of the house. If the actor moved back from the front of the picture, his voice receded with his figure.

The new film uses a double sound track for the first time, to produce the "stereophonic" sound, and was announced as the first commercial film of its kind. These lifelike sound effects have been produced in laboratories for several years. Expense has kept them from being adopted by movies.

Report Deserters Are Shot Down

Japanese Say Chinese Veterans Policing New Army Lines at Shanghai

SHANGHAI (AP)—Semi-official Japanese sources today said veterans of the 19th Route Army who fought the Japanese to a standstill in the ruins of Chapel in 1932 are now policing the Chinese lines.

Japanese said a deserter from the 77th Chinese Division had informed his Japanese questioners that Gen. Tsai Ting-kai, commander of the 19th in 1932, had assumed command of the veterans, who were shooting down waverers and retreaters with revolvers.

Gen. Ma Chan-shan, hero of the Nonni River battle against the Japanese in Manchuria in 1932 and whom the Japanese repeatedly have reported dead, was said by an official Japanese army spokesman to have taken the field in Suiyuan province with a "dare-to-die" corps.

The spokesman said Gen. Ma had established headquarters at Paotz, terminus of the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad, and intended to co-operate with the Chinese Communist army in Suiyuan to oppose the Japanese advance as he did in Manchuria.

Japan Bars Out Big List of Goods

Articles Forbidden to Be Imported Total 700; Oil and Steel Needed

TOKIO (AP)—An emergency law banning importation of nearly 700 "luxury" articles became effective Monday on promulgation by the Japanese government.

Despite the prohibition against imports of such items as woolen clothing, coal, cigarettes, liquor and candy, Japan is expected to remain one of the United States best customers with continued heavy purchases of oil, cotton, steel and machinery, which are exempted as "urgent."

STORIES IN STAMPS

AMERICA'S AFRICAN "COLONY"

Last independent sovereignty of Africa, picturesque Liberia, struggles today toward the same Utopian dreams that brought it into existence almost 100 years ago. Covering 43,000 square miles, the tiny state lies on the western coast of Africa, between Sierra Leone and the Ivory Coast.

Only place in all Africa where the black man rules, Liberia is in fact an American "protectorate." The story goes back to 1781. At that time Thomas Jefferson had advocated the gradual abolition of slavery by enfranchisement, deportation and colonization. And a great many negroes subsequently were freed. By 1800 the number of these free negroes became alarming.

So in 1816 the American Colonization Society tackled the problem. With government aid, in 1821, a strip of African coast was purchased and the work of colonization started amid great difficulties. The project survived, however, and in 1847 the little republic was formed and Liberia took her place among the family of nations. The form of government was patterned after that of the United States. Typical Liberian stamps is that of 1906 shown here.

Man Drowns as His Car Goes Into Lake

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia police today were investigating the death of W. E. Crookes, 53, drowned Sunday when his car plunged from a highway into Wood's Lake, 18 miles north of here.

H. R. F. Dodd, postmaster and merchant of Kelowna, riding with Crookes, escaped when he managed to climb from the submerged machine and clung to a log until a passing motorist noticed the accident. Dodd told police they were on their way to Vernon when the car, driven by Crookes, left the road on a sharp curve and plunged into 10 feet of water in the lake.

The Migration Problem

PREMIER PATTULLO HAS INFORMED the Empire Migration Conference in London that for many years he has advocated a vigorous immigration policy. Today's London Daily Telegraph-Morning Post editorially supports the warning of Viscount Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, that the future of the Empire's development will be obviously threatened unless steps are taken quickly to further migration from the United Kingdom to the Dominions. "There are grounds for hope that migration may soon be resumed on a considerable scale," the newspaper said, "but expectations must be cautious."

In his letter to the conference Premier Pattullo points out that any policy advocated must be on a strictly selective basis as far as British Columbia is concerned, this province wanting to be assured that those who might be inclined to come here would be of a type that would not become a public charge. He added:

"It is rather a simple matter to generalize and say that one is in favor of an immigration policy, but it is another matter to work it out. If the British authorities, the Dominion Government, the provincial governments, and the railroads were to get together and formulate a policy, I see no reason why a programme could not be worked out that would be eminently satisfactory."

The situation to be faced, however, is complex. It is not sufficient to formulate a programme to ship so many workers from the British Isles, no matter under what sort of a scheme, to the Dominions and expect them to take root even within a reasonable time. It is conceivable that only a comparatively small number would be prepared to make the change even if it could be shown to them that they would enjoy wider scope for initiative and more advantages all round. Then again there is the capacity of the Dominions to absorb thousands of new settlers—either now or in the early future—to be taken into consideration. Canada could do very nicely indeed with double her present population; a national debt of more than $3,000,000,000 could be borne much more agreeably by 20,000,000 people than it is being borne by her 11,000,000. What, however, have the thousands of idle workers to say about the importation of new citizens until conditions in the labor market improve?

As Mr. Pattullo infers, this country must have more population, but we must get it with a reasonable assurance that we can accommodate it and hold it permanently. Wider markets for the products of Canada's farms and factories are the first essential and national policies directed towards this end must be broadened as international fiscal thought and action become more tolerant and elastic.

Aberhart's Weekly Message

PREMIER ABERHART MAY ACQUIT himself tolerably well when he addresses the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute on spiritual matters, but as soon as he delves into economics and politics he is apt to wander out of his depth. His chief deliberation on Sunday, for instance, appears to have been a spirited attack on the action taken by Lieutenant-Governor Bowen on refusing the royal assent to three bills until he had obtained further advice from Ottawa. Mr. Aberhart is credited with the statement that the representative of the King in Alberta had "assumed more authority than any of his superiors . . . and that the present situation reflects dangerously near the point of challenging representative government."

It is true the Lieutenant-Governor took a course which no official in his position likes to take. He had no alternative, however, because he was confronted with a very definite attempt on the part of a Prime Minister and his colleagues to place on Alberta's statute books legislation the like of which had never been sponsored by any government in any part of Canada. The "press bill"—one of the measures to which the Lieutenant-Governor postponed assent—in itself contains legislative provisions which would immeasurably outweigh in dictatorial significance the course of Hon. Mr. Bowen. Far from a desire to try to overreach his constitutional powers by blocking, for the time being, at any rate, a flagrant attempt of the government to gag the press of the province, the Lieutenant-Governor was, in the only way open to him, protecting the rights of the people and safeguarding the principles upon which constitutional government rests.

Premier Aberhart weakens his case when he says "it is to be hoped that even if our Lieutenant-Governor should think that the newspapers should be allowed to publish falsehoods, that the Prime Minister of Canada or the Supreme Court of Canada will declare it to be within the power of the province." What Mr. Aberhart wants to do is decide for himself what he thinks is false. If he does not know he ought to know, that about the last thing to which Mr. Mackenzie King and his colleagues will consent is the Aberhartian or other formula to Hitlerize Alberta or any Canadian newspapers.

Doubled in Six Years

THE NINE MAIN MANUFACTURERS of automobiles in Canada have built up an industry which must take a place in the front ranks of those which have made phenomenal progress within a comparatively short period. Figures issued monthly this year show increases over those of the previous year ranging in the neighborhood of 25 per cent. But going back over the figures for a few years, it is learned that it has taken only six years for the industry to double itself. In 1931 the annual output of cars was 82,559; last year the output reached the total of 162,159.

This year the figures of the automobile industry will play an even greater part in our industrial recovery. Although only those for seven months have been compiled, the total for the past year is greater than was the yearly total of three years ago and it is approaching the full total for last year. Production at the end of July stood at 146,512, according to customs records, with every indication of exceeding by many thousands the total of 1936. Canada is also making greater inroads in the automobile market abroad. In no month this year has Canada failed to export 1,000 more automobiles than in the corresponding month last year and in some months the export of motor vehicles has been more than 2,000 greater than in the same month of the previous year.

To Cope With Our Criminals

A LETTER ON THIS PAGE SATURDAY from Mr. W. E. G. Crisford suggested a central bureau to cope with crime in the four municipalities of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt. Trying to trace a person who had disappeared suddenly, Mr. Crisford says: "I was thoroughly disgusted with the crisscross reference to this chief of police and that chief of police, when time was the essential consideration."

Citizens generally have been becoming more and more aware of the situation set out by this correspondent. Reports of petty thieving, house-breaking, night prowling and even attacks on women seem to have been increasing in frequency of late. But the four municipalities, which should be one for crime detection purposes, must function with separate police forces, without any modern facilities to co-ordinate their efforts.

The proposal of Police Chief Heatley of Victoria to link the four police forces by installing a system of two-way radio-equipped prowler cars covering the Greater Victoria area is a move to make more effective our potential police power against crime. Radio, as the chief says, is the greatest enemy the criminal must contend with. It would simplify patrol work and give greater protection to residential areas, making a difference of half an hour in some cases. It would be short-sighted economy on the part of the municipalities concerned to deny the police modern facilities to cope with criminals.

CANADA SHOULD DEFEND CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTIES OF ALL ITS PEOPLE

From The Edmonton Journal
Reaffirmation by the government of Canada of the basic right of Canadian subjects to freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and a free press, and a frank statement of its intention to maintain at all times these fundamentals which form a part of the unwritten constitution of the Dominion, would go a long way toward reassuring not only the people of Alberta but Canadians everywhere.

Announcement by Ottawa that prompt disallowance will be the fate of any provincial legislation infringing on these three rights of British subjects would allay the fear that has been aroused lately and would serve to clear the air for the future.

So taken for granted as a part of their British heritage are the liberties of speech, of assembly and of the press, that many Canadians and most Canadian governments have given them no more thought than they have to the air Canadians breathe. But certain recent events in Alberta and the appearance of related tendencies in one or two other provinces have shown that attempts at curtailing these liberties still are possible.

Because the constitutional right of British subjects to free expression of opinion is not set down in so many words in the British North America Act it is all the more reason for the federal government at this time to draw the attention of the people of Canada and of the several provinces to these fundamentals of democracy.

In many countries they are written into the national constitutions. That of the United States states explicitly that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

A reminder by the central government of the Dominion that it has been, is and will be its policy to maintain at all times those fundamental British rights—freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom of the press—is desirable at this time. They are no less a part of the constitution of Canada because they have not been written into the British North America Act. And it is the plain duty of the government of Canada to defend them at all times and in all parts of the Dominion.

FUNNY STORY

SINCE I CAME out of the hospital a lot of my friends have stopped me on the street and said I didn't look as if I were quite finished and dead, after all. Clearly I had disappointed them a bit. And they said, with a ghoul-like look, well, now we may expect something mighty funny about your time in the hospital. You'll be sure to write something perfectly splitting, they said, about the loss of your tonsils. They went off laughing as if in losing my tonsils I had done something really side-splitting.

To tell you the truth, having your tonsils out isn't as funny as all that. It is funny, of course, but not as funny as all that. I mean, I have seen other things funnier, among them somebody else having his tonsils out. I don't want to sound as if I lacked appreciation or a sense of humor, but on the whole, I am inclined to think that I could have more fun by going to the movies, for example, or off on a fishing trip, than by going into the hospital. Some people won't believe this, of course, but I still think there is something in it.

Then there are the other fellows who grasp your hand and look at you with horror in their eyes, as if you were a ghost returned from the grave. They never expected you to get through it. They said good-bye to you, trying to look brave, but looking like men who were saying good-bye for ever. Now they gaze at you in wonderment as if you had no right to be alive. These are the fellows who should have their tonsils out, who have been talking about it for years, but who lack the moral courage. Even though you assure them quite truthfully that it isn't nearly as painful as having a tooth out, they will never believe you. They will go on talking about their tonsils and spraying and gargling them for years, and tremble every time they catch sight of a doctor. I know, because I used to be one of them.

NEW PYJAMAS

THERE really isn't anything to it. All you need is a nice new pair of pyjamas. I mean, you'll miss half the fun if you don't feel really well dressed for it. Going into an operating room in an old pair of pyjamas is like turning up at a formal party in tweeds. It makes you feel embarrassed. But with a new pair of blue-striped pyjamas, you can look the surgeon and all the nurses in the eye, knowing that you are groomed for the occasion.

The young doctor was a miracle of efficiency and, besides, I always did admire a man who was a good carver. But I really felt as if I had dressed up in new pyjamas and a rather fine dressing gown from Regent Street (I had been saving it for the occasion) the young doctor might have got himself up a little more impressively.

I mean, when a fellow proposes to take out my tonsils that have been with me all these years, he ought to show a little more respect for them. He ought to wear a coat and something better than a fisherman's oiled silk apron. But that's what they wear, mind you, with an absurd flour sack cap and a mask around their faces as if they belonged to the Ku Klux Klan. (This is so you won't see their leer of anticipation.)

CALLUS PEOPLE

IN EXACTLY four minutes by the clock on the wall, he pulled out my first tonsil, before I thought that the operation had got under way. "Look here," I said, "you ought to give me a bit of notice. You ought to make a little more fuss over it. I mean to say, these tonsils may be poor things, but my own. I've had them a long time. I brought them along when they were mere babies and saw them grow up and mature. And now you whip them out without even giving me a chance to say good-bye to them."

"Open a little wider," said the young doctor, and in two more minutes he had the other one out and I hadn't felt a thing. These men grow callous after whipping out their first thousand tonsils. In two more minutes he had the other one out and I hadn't felt a thing. He stood looking at them for a moment with evident satisfaction.

"You needn't look so proud," I said. "They're just tonsils, you know. You'd think," I said, "they were twins."

(I mean, you have to keep up a running comment like this because it makes you sound awfully brave. The nurses giggle, thinking you are the very devil of a fellow. You think so, too, for about half an hour after you get over it. You don't think you are a devil of a fellow after a while.)

All the nurses peer into your mouth and say it is just beautiful. The doctor says it is beautiful. You feel pretty sure it must be the most beautiful mouth in town. And all this time you have been holding the hand of the prettiest nurse, which is part of the hospital's service. I tell you, modern hospitalization is wonderful. You would never get a chance to hold such a pretty young nurse's hand anywhere else.

Fifteen minutes after being wheeled in, you are wheeled out, making jokes that sound funny to you. On looking back on them you may not think them so funny. I remember telling the nurses to be kind to those poor horseless tonsils that had lost their father, with the winter coming on and everything. It made me laugh then. Now I am beginning to think maybe I wasn't so funny in the operating room. But the nurses laugh loyally. That is part of their job.

Only An Apple

By OLIVE L. JOHNSTON

THE FARMHOUSE had once been bright with paint, and the yard gay with flowers. Now the paint was worn off with the constant friction of drifting soil, and the flower beds were buried inches deep. The wide fields once lush with wheat were a desert, only an odd patch of Russian thistle relieving the endless brown monotony. Fences were broken and sagging from the weight of drifted soil. No need now for fences, however, the stock was all gone. The farm buildings were all falling down. Everywhere was desolation and decay.

Only one room of the house was in use, and that was the kitchen. Already there had been a flurry of snow, and when word is scarce one is thankful for one warm room.

Nancy sat in the low rocking chair by the stove, staring vacantly at nothing; one gets that habit when a full meal is almost a forgotten luxury.

By dint of carrying many pails of water from the deep well, she had managed to grow a small patch of potatoes and carrots; this, with a little bread, constituted the bill of fare.

She did not mind so much for herself and Jim, they could manage somehow, but little Donnie was sick.

There was only Donnie now since Baby Nan had died. A delicate baby less than a year old cannot live on potatoes and carrots and no milk. And now Donnie turned his puffed little face away from his plate and asked piteously for an apple.

She thought of her childhood home in B.C. The apples were ripe now—tons of them lying on the ground rotting.

She twisted her thin fingers tightly. How strange it seemed to have no sewing or knitting! But how can one do either when there is no wool to knit or cloth to sew?

On the bed in the corner Donnie stirred restlessly. "Mommie, I'm cold." Swiftly she bent over him.

"Mommie, my tummy hurts and it's cold." With trembling fingers she drew the ragged blankets closer around the thin little body.

She made up the fire. She must be careful with the wood. They were burning the old chicken house now, the logs had been hauled from 60-mile bush in the early days. They were punky and did not last long.

She heated some sand in a pan, put it in an old sugar sack, and placed it on the child's stomach. She managed to get him to swallow a few mouthfuls of hot water and after a while he slept.

Once more she sat in the rocker and stared out across the bare prairie fields. Yesterday their neighbor, Harry Smith, had come with great news. The people of B.C. were sending carloads of fruit and vegetables to the drought-stricken farmers of Saskatchewan. One was expected to arrive at the nearest town the next day. Jim must go with him and get his share.

Early the next day, long before daybreak, they set off to walk the 10 miles to town—horses do not survive long on Russian thistle—trusting to luck that someone would give them a lift back in a car.

She had not told Donnie. There were so many in need. One carload would only be a drop in the ocean, and Jim might be too late. She prayed he might not be. Only proper food could save Donnie now, and it must come soon.

The sound of a car made her start to her feet. Her heart beat nauseatingly; it so often did lately.

The noise awoke Donnie, he began to sob quietly. Her husband came in, followed by Harry and Dr. Brown. Jim carried a box of apples, Harry a large box of groceries, and the doctor a smaller box of canned milk and soups.

She was unable to speak for sheer thankfulness.

Jim removed the top from the apples, saying "I told Doc about the boy and he got me the milk and soups. Oh, Nan, there were so many who were too late it was terrible. We were nearly too late ourselves."

How pretty the apples looked lying there in shining rows. Almost reverently she took one and placed it in Donnie's hand. He smiled faintly at her. He did not try to eat, but just lay looking at it.

The doctor heated milk and water, sweetened it and held the cup to the child's lips. Donnie drank greedily. "Oh, Mommie, my tummy is warm now."

He fell asleep still holding the shining red apple.

CANADIAN PRIESTS PASSED UP

To the Editor:—In the cathedral Sunday morning Bishop Sexton reiterated his statement that he could only find one Canadian priest qualified to be our dean and rector, and that this one was too young. Now as a young Canadian I should like to ask why too young? I happen to have known Canon Spencer Elliott, the Bishop's nominee, in Leeds years ago when I was a child. He was then a middle-aged man and must now be quite elderly, and one who will make no appeal to the young people. His pet theme is family prayers.

If we are to have a kind, gentle, elderly man, I know of a dean in eastern Canada who preached in our cathedral a year or two ago, and who told me then how much he would like to exchange the rigors of an eastern winter for our warmer climate.

Also, an archdeacon in the interior was lodging for this post and who can say how many men on the prairie were wistfully praying for it.

Would Bishop Sexton please tell me how many Canadian priests were given the chance of refusing it? He told us this morning that all qualified experienced men were already in permanent posts. Isn't this true of the Englishman he has chosen? But he was willing to move elsewhere. The truth is, we heard months ago that Bishop Sexton was going to find a new dean when he went to England, but we hoped the church committee, knowing the prevalent feeling, would put him wise. He has only been out here two years and doesn't yet understand Canada.

It is the church committee who are to blame for having no courage to stand up to him. What is the people's warden for? This is a serious matter if Canadian priests can never hope for promotion.

NEW GIBBS NOVEL

"Cities of Refuge," by Sir Philip Gibbs, is now in the Victoria Public Library. In this new novel, Sir Philip gives a picture of refugee life after the war, effective as peace propaganda. It is a story of people in exile, a White Russian family, who, for the next 20 years, lead a precarious nomadic existence, moving from one European city to another. With the comprehensive skill of one who is a keen student of his times the author has depicted the story of that migration against "the turbulent background of recent history." Mr. Gibbs has written an interesting and enlightening story, told with sympathy and intelligence, of the people of our post-war Europe.

ANGRY GODS

From New York Times

When lightning struck the Edison memorial tower at Menlo Park recently, falling to the ground the unfinished monument to the genius who harnessed the lightnings to the everyday service of man, it seemed as if the old gods, the jealous Jove, the fiery-tempered Vulcan, might still be at their ancient tricks. Are not the legends full of such exhibitions of Olympian anger, forged into lightning bolts to destroy the earthly beings who aspired too high? The tower commemorating the audacity of the wizard of Menlo Park was erected on the very spot of the work bench where Edison perfected the first incandescent bulb. It was not finished when the lightning shattered it. But if the old gods gloated to see the steel framework ripped like paper by their electric power, the modern Prometheus, like the first fire-bringer, had the last laugh. For when the wreckage was cleared away it was found that the light at the base of the tower was still burning. The glass case which enclosed it was broken, but Edison's little bulb was intact, alight, and one likes to believe, defiant. Out of a new item very similar to this Aeschylus made his greatest drama.

HEALTH DELAY MAY BELONGER

No Insurance Action Until Rowell Commission Reports, Premier Says

Indication that the delay in health insurance for British Columbia probably will be for two or three years was given over the week-end by Premier Pattullo in an interview in Toronto.

The Premier is quoted by the Canadian Press as saying the government's health insurance bill would not likely be presented to the Legislature until the Rowell commission has reported.

Since it will hardly be possible for the Rowell commission to report before the Commons meets in 1939, this will involve a delay of at least two years.

The Premier also intimated that the health insurance plan might be changed, at the instance of the doctors to apply to families of $1,500 yearly income instead of $1,800. The health commission, he said, is ironing out difficulties with the medical profession.

Young Chinese To Appear Here

Children From Mission School Will Present "Feast of Little Lanterns"

The Chinese Catholic Mission of Vancouver will present a two-act operetta, "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy on Friday and Saturday evenings, with a matinee Saturday.

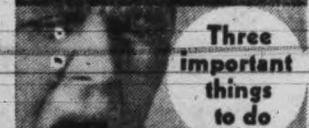

The operetta tells a story of old China, and contains 14 delightful songs to the accompaniment of the gong and tom-tom. It has a cast that is entirely Chinese against a background of beautiful Oriental scenery and rich Chinese costumes.

Miss Myrtle Wong takes the leading part of the Princess Chan. Clad in the regal robes of Imperial China and seated upon the Dragon Throne, she will present a very charming picture, and will sing, "O Beautiful" and "On a Day Long Ago."

The tragedy that saddens the heart of the Princess Chan is made lighter by the comic role of Ow Long, tutor to the Princess—impersonated by James Wong. The part of Wee Ling, maid to Princess Chan, will be taken by Miss Violet Wong, who will sing a song entitled, "The Beautiful Peacock Was Preening His Wings."

Another of the principal players is Miss Dorothy Wong, who will bring to the part of the Chinese juggler maid a charming personality and a beautiful voice. The operetta is under the able direction of Miss Edna Bryant.

SAYS BUSINESS HAS IMPROVED

Executives of Northern Electric Company Visitors to Victoria Today

"A very gratifying increase in business over previous years has been shown during the past nine months," declared M. K. Pike, vice-president of the Northern Electric Company Limited, who, with A. L. Brown, general merchandising manager, is here today on a tour of the western branches of the company. "Our own business," said Mr.

Pike, "is considerably improved over last year, partially due to the general improvement in business conditions, but also traceable to improved manufacturing and distribution facilities of the company. Two new branches have been opened this year, bringing the number of the company's distributing houses across the Dominion to 20, in order to render an adequate service to the country's growing needs."

"For the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation we have designed and manufactured what will be Canada's two most powerful broadcasting stations. We are now engaged in installing these at Hornby, Ontario, and Verchères, Quebec, and both will be on the air shortly."

"The latest addition to our manifold manufacturing activities and one that will have a very widespread effect," Mr. Brown said, taking over, "is the introduction of the Northern-Hammond organ. This is an entirely new musical instrument which uses neither reeds nor pipes, but operates by electrical impulses."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a blue taffeta afternoon frock and grey felt hat with nose veil and navy blue accessories. She wore a corsage bouquet of Talisman rosebuds. Mrs. R. K. Simpson, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor, in an afternoon frock in hunter's green, with a brown straw hat trimmed with tiny yellow roses, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. James Prendergast, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the young couple were assisted in receiving their relatives and a few intimate friends by Mrs. Prendergast, who wore a gown of navy silk with lace insets, and blue coat and hat to match. Mrs. Ashby also assisted in receiving, wearing a blue tunic frock with matching hat.

The reception rooms were decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. The three-tier wedding cake which centred the table was embedded in pink tulle and was flanked with cream chrysanthemums. The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip up the west coast, after which they will make their home in Alberni.

Gillan, Saanich, and Mr. Benjamin Stanley Dyer, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dyer, 2716 Scott Street, in the presence of relatives only. The bride and groom left immediately afterwards for Tacoma, and on return from their honeymoon, will make their home on Marchmont Road, Duncan.

Girls Sought Gold; Got Colds

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—

Two of the northland's prettiest prospectors—a blond and a brunette from Mississippi—headed homeward tonight with nothing much to show for their gold-seeking venture but a coat of tan and a touch of rheumatism.

Miss Sue Comer and Mrs. Horstense Landru of Vicksburg, Miss., paused long enough to discuss their 2½ months prospecting expedition.

They dug for gold in the lonely Lake Zoglak district, about 75 miles northwest of Goodnews Bay. They lived principally on boiled owls, roast porcupine and reindeer beef. They were soaked by rain and tormented by rheumatism most of the time. They found little gold.

LONDON (CP)—The King and Queen returned to London today after several weeks' holiday at Balmoral Castle.

As the train pulled in from Scotland, Their Majesties were welcomed by Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, and Sir Philip Game, commissioner of Metropolitan Police.

Four nurses from Queen Charlotte's Hospital, selling paper flowers on tag day, approached the royal party, all of whom made purchases. Included in the party was Princess Elizabeth's small brown Corgi dog.

Her Majesty was dressed in a deep powder blue three-quarter-length coat, with a wide band of grey fur collar to help. Her toque-effect was of the same material and shade as the coat. The King, looking remarkably Back at Buckingham Palace, the King and Queen immediately began the duties of state. About 150 members of the American Legion, the United States ex-servicemen's organization, were received in one of the state drawing rooms.

His Majesty shook hands with each of the Americans, and later the King and Queen mingled with them, discussing war veterans' problems and conditions in the United States.

"You must be a fellow Scot," the Queen remarked to one of them when she heard his name—John Gordon. The legionnaire told Her Majesty his family had left Scotland for America in 1760.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how lovely your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three orders of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Dividends Of Life Are Varied

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel" WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1937
Astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary direction. The stars appear to favor labor demands, although there may be determined opposition. Public opinion regarding public policies will be vacillating. Bitter criticism of public men will continue to be voiced. Discontent with things as they are will be widespread in the United States, despite the improvement and recovery enjoyed by all classes. Under this configuration there may be much self-deception. The stars warn that this nation cannot long maintain peace if war spreads in Europe. On the Pacific Coast much work for defence against foreign warships is forecast. A spy scare is prophesied. While this rule prevails intrigue and other devious methods will obtain in politics. Reform movements will be numerous but ineffectual. Attention to dress will be a feature of the winter, when uniforms will be numerous in many parts of the country. Women will cultivate distinctive attire. Persons whose birthdate is 1 has the augury of a year of perplexities in business matters. Death may affect certain firms that influence the lives of women. Children born on this day probably will be intellectual and talented. Subjects of this sign usually are restive under all delays. Charles Sprague Pearce, painter, was born on this day, 1851. Others who have celebrated as a birthday include Edward Baldwin Gileson, a physician, 1854; Harold Harris Bailey, ornithologist, 1879. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- Should a golfer be careful not to walk ahead of a player farther from the green than he is?
- Where should a golfer stand when his opponent is driving?
- Is it necessary to replace cut turf?
- If a foursome stops to look for a lost ball, should they signal the players following to go through?
- Should a golfer watch to see that his shadow does not fall across the path of the player who is putting?

What would you do if—

You are playing golf with a man who thinks it is all right to make his own rules.

- Say, "Look here, you can't do that!"
- Play your way and let him play his way?
- Play by his rules?

ANSWERS

- Yes.
- Out of the way of his club and out of sight.
- Yes, and it should be pressed down with the foot.
- Yes.

North Shore In Hard-fought Soccer Win

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

FOR THE SECOND straight year the New York Yankees are the baseball champions of the world. Joe McCarthy's gang of sluggers wound up the 1937 classic on Sunday by defeating the New York Giants 4 to 2 in the fifth game. The Yanks lived up to form having gone into the series heavy favorites to whip their fellow townsmen from the National League in their second successive subway series.

In the series there was more at stake than the world championship. It was the rubber series between New York's two major league clubs and by their victory the Yanks gave the edge to the American League three victories to two. In addition the Ruppert Rifles became the first American League club to be credited with six world championships.

In the previous all-New York world series the Giants won the first two in 1921 and 1922 and the Yankees were winners in 1923 and 1936. This was the twelfth time a National League New York team was entered in the modern series. Others won four and lost seven. The American League added to its lead over the National in series victories with 21 to 13.

Lefty Gomez certainly wound up his comeback year in a blaze of glory Sunday, turning back the Giants for the second time in the series and retaining his sensational record of never having lost a world series engagement. Gomez got himself into several tough spots in the final battle, but always was able to bear down in the pinches and pull out. Maybe those two pitchers who kept walking out to the Yankee bullpen kept Gomez on the jump.

Outstanding member of the Giants in the series was Jo-Jo Moore, speedy left fielder, who rattled nine hits off the curves and speedballs of the Yankee pitchers. He hit safely in every game and on Sunday rose to the peak with three ringing base knocks. Moore has always been recognized as one of the greatest outfielders in either league and proved his right to be placed among the greats in the series just completed.

The series more than proved the arguments of many baseball critics that Carl Hubbell is Manager Bill Terry's meal ticket. The slender pitcher with the knuckleball was the only member of Colonel Terry's staff able to halt Joe DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig and Company and then, after two attempts. Cliff Melton, big gangling left-hander, who proved such a sensation for the Giants in the latter stages of the National League race, was unable to break the jinx that has followed rookies into the world series. Like the others before him, he failed to register a win. But for Hubbell, the Yankees would have been practically a cinch to take the series four straight.

Another odd feature of the series was the 1,000 per cent fielding exhibition turned in by the Yankees. They went into the series with the reputation of not having nearly the airtight infield boasted by the Giants, but they finished up without a single error credited against them, while their opponents were charged with nine. That is something for the experts to try and figure out.

When the Yankees won the series it gave their manager, Joe McCarthy, a record in the classic of three victories and one defeat. He managed the Chicago Cubs in one series and the Yanks in the other three. The defeat made Terry's record stand at one winner and two losers, as a manager. He was a player on the losing team of 1924.

Christie's Goal In Second Half Beats Victoria

Mainlanders Mark Up 4 to 3 Victory Here in Opening Intercity Match
Tied at Half

Breaking a 3 to 3 deadlock on Christie's goal, after 26 minutes of the second half, Vancouver North Shore defeated Victoria United 4 to 3 in the opening match of the new Intercity Football League at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. With ideal weather, close to 1,000 fans were on hand and for the first major fixture of the season the brand of soccer was good.

The teams were tied 3 to 3 at half-time. North Shore having rallied to tie the score on two occasions. Victoria opened strong by getting away to a two-goal margin only to have the red-shirted visitors smash through for two counters in quick order and get back on to even terms. The locals forged ahead for the second time but North Shore again came through with the tying goal before the interval. The second half produced Christie's lone counter which decided the match.

Engaging in what, for several, was their first match of the season, the Victoria players put up a good showing. They were able to keep up with the fast pace set by the visitors in the first half, but in the final period the Victoria team slowed up badly and for the best part of the half North Shore held the edge, except for occasional breakaways by the locals. The Victoria players engaged in plenty of mis-kicking, while the forwards failed to show up to their usual form, mainly through lack of play. Before the season gets much older the Victoria team should round into a smart club and one which will be able to hold its own in the league.

North Shore flashed some pretty combination football during the afternoon. They have three smart forwards in McManus, Spencer and Larsen, while their halves and backs are sound. In the first ten minutes of play John Watt, Victoria centre-forward, had a beautiful opening on a pass from George Payne but delayed his shot too long and the ball was cleared by Cumming. North Shore were dangerous on a cross from Christie to Young, but the latter shot wide with a first timer.

OPENING GOAL

At the 20-minute mark Victoria went into the lead when Noel Morgan, inside left, caught the top corner of the net with a terrific left-foot drive. The ball traveled from Payne to Watt to Morgan's boot for a pretty goal. Five minutes later Cliff Robbins made it 2 to 0, booting the ball past Rabbitt after some nice combination play along with Payne and Watt.

North Shore swept down the field and at the 25-minute mark notched up their opening goal, Christie beating Rowe with a shot that just got by the post. The goalie dropped for the ball only to see it go under him. One minute later the teams were all even, McManus heading in a cross from Young on the right wing. Leggett and Rowe appeared to have the ball covered, but allowed McManus to rush in and get his head in the way.

Only seven minutes had ticked off when Victoria again took the lead Robbins carrying the ball into the net during a scramble in the North Shore net. Watt, Morgan and Payne were also in the play around the goal mouth. North Shore put on the pressure and Rowe leaped high in the air to make a fine save of a shot from Spencer. The Shore made it 3 to 3 when McManus whipped the ball past Rowe from an angle. Spencer came close to getting a goal, his shot having Rowe beaten all the way, but Cook, Victoria back, who was standing in the goalmouth, headed the ball over the bar.

Jacob Gaudaur Passes Away

Famous Canadian Oarsman and Former World Champion Dies in East

ORILLIA, Ont., — Jacob Gill Gaudaur, 79, once world rowing champion, died at his home on the "Narrows," near here yesterday after a long illness.

Jake Gaudaur died in the home in which he was born in 1858, located at the connecting link of water between lakes Simcoe and Couchiching. Until confined to his bed last August, he had actively pursued his boat and fishing lively business.

Gaudaur took up rowing at the age of 17. In 1884, at Austin, Texas, he raced three miles in 19 minutes and 14 seconds. The time never has been bettered. He won the world title in 1896 when he defeated Jim Stanbury of Australia and held it for five years.

"Muzz" Suffers Cut in Spill During Six-day Race at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Gustav Killian and Heinz Vopel, favored German team, still battled on even terms in the lap standing today with Emile Ignat and Emile Diot of France in Montreal's 15th international six-day bicycle race. The Germans had a 160-110 edge in points, however.

Three laps back of the two leading pairs were Torchy and Doug Peden of Victoria.

Muzz Patrick, Victoria, B.C., riding in his first six-day race, partnered with Gerald Debaets, Belgium, was 10th. Last night Patrick was in a spill and suffered a cut eye that required four stitches to close.

Many Victorians See First Polo Game

Action during Sunday's polo game between Victoria Centaurs and Duncan Polo Club is shown in the above picture. In the foreground, with his back to the camera, is H. Carberry, star of the Duncan team, who turned in a splendid performance during the game. The white helmet just above the horse's head at the left is that of Peter Lodwick, crack player from Kamloops who played for Victoria. Lodwick is just starting after the ball after hitting it down the field. On the right is Dick Wilson, Victoria, while behind Carberry are Don Carley, Victoria, and G. G. Baiss, captain of the Duncan quartette. N. Van der Vliet, Victoria, and Dick Baiss, Duncan, are preparing to start after the ball with Lodwick at the left side of the picture. The game was won by Duncan by a 4 to 3 score in overtime.

Veteran and Novice Feature Hillclimb

L. Kaelin, Seattle, Island Champion; N. Cameron Wins Two Classes

The performances of a novice and a veteran were the highlights of the Victoria Motor Cycle Club's 17th annual hillclimb, staged before a large crowd at Mount Douglas yesterday afternoon.

Louis Kaelin of Seattle, the veteran, carried off the F. W. Francis Challenge Trophy, emblematic of the Vancouver Island championship, by covering the 235-foot course in the almost incredible time of 8½ seconds. His machine, an Indian Scout with a very special engine, shrieked up the 60 per cent slope with a noise like the motor of a dive-bomber.

Kaelin's performance was the more remarkable because he had a seriously game leg, the relic of a crash four months ago.

Newton Cameron, the novice, carried off the other two honors in the contests — victory in the novice class and the Paul Girard Memorial Trophy for Class C motors. He made beautiful climbs on each occasion, winning the former climb in 10.35 seconds and the latter in 10.25.

Cameron rode a German-built B.M.W., a rather special machine, with a flat twin engine set crossways in a pressed steel frame, and with a shaft drive. He was barred from entering the Vancouver Island championship class because the rules of that event limit overhead valve engines to 500 cubic centimetres capacity. The B.M.W. has a capacity of 730 c.c.

TRICKY COURSE The course was particularly tricky because of the dry weather. After the first few climbs what little grass there was had blown down the four winds to land among the spectators, and the hillside was almost pure unadulterated sand. As a result wheel-spins, even with chains, were terrific, and the competitors were completely hidden in a brown cloud a few feet after they had left the pits. To add to their discomforts there was a large bump about 130 feet from the starting tape which spelled disaster to all but a few.

The only others besides Kaelin and Cameron to reach the top were Bob Shanks (Indian 74), who made a 12.45 second climb to take second place in the major event; Bill Leahy, second in the Girardou Trophy class, with 11.45 seconds on an Indian 45 and also second in the novice event with 13.45 seconds, and Ken Henderson (Harley-Davidson 74), third in the novice class with 14.25 seconds.

Third place in the championship climb went to Jimmy Wells, riding a Mark 10 Triumph, who covered 170 feet of the hill before wheel-spin blocked him.

Charlie Davies (Indian 45) was third in the class C contest with 150 feet.

STILL RIDING AT 63

The crowd gave a special ovation to Dick ("Pop") Shanks, 63-year-old rider, who knows more about motorcycles than all the other riders in Victoria put together, for his two game attempts on a Harley in the novice class.

Other riders and their best times were as follows: Vic Stevens (Harley 74), 145 feet; Frank Baylis (Indian 45), 100 feet; Brian Carmichael (Ariel 40), 105 feet; Frank Thomas (Indian 45), 130 feet; Reg Shanks (Indian 45), 110 feet; Jack Miller (Rudge), 154 feet; Binks Ralston (Triumph Tiger 90), 136 feet, and Jimmy Worswick (Ariel 350 c.c.), 115 feet.

Bethel Darcus (Royal Enfield) was forced to retire with gear-box trouble after a spill on his first attempt.

Bronks, Riders Beat Winnipeg

Manitobans Drop Pair of Fixtures on Long Weekend; U.B.C. Beaten

WINNIPEG — Winnipeg blue Bombers' second week-end effort to clinch a Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff berth was wrecked yesterday on Calgary Bronks' rugged defence as the Albertans won 7 to 1.

Regina Roughriders, who trimmed the Bombers 8 to 2 in Regina Saturday for their first win in six starts, can still gain a tie with Winnipeg for the second playoff berth. A rider defeat or a Winnipeg victory would pit Bombers against Bronks in the final. Each team has two games to play.

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds took their second defeat of the week-end when they bowed 15 to 9 to Alberta Bears at Edmonton. On Saturday Thunderbirds lost a Western Intercollegiate Union game to Saskatchewan at Saskatoon, 2 to 0.

Saskatchewan took a Thanksgiving Day trimming from Regina's Junior Dales 18 to 7 in an exhibition game at Regina.

ROBERTS SCORES FOR B.C. Pete Rule and Ian Robertson scored Alberta touchdowns, both converted, as Bears outplayed the British Columbian. Halfback Ap Roberts scored all the B.C. points, a field goal and converted touchdown.

Edmonton Athletic Club jumped to the top of the Northwestern League standing with a 12 to 0 victory Saturday over University of Alberta.

In eastern Canada Sarnia Imperials played to a 7 to 7 draw with Balmy Beach in an O.R.F.U. opener yesterday. On Saturday Montreal Indians beat Ottawa Rough Riders 17 to 6, while Tor-

DUSKY MAIDEN TAKES TRIALS

Dr. W. F. Daw's English Setter Takes Honors at Gun-dog Event

The fall trials of the Victoria and District Gun-dog Club were held Sunday at the Rithet Farm. There was a good entry of dogs and a large and enthusiastic gallery. Scenting conditions were unusually bad, and, in consequence there was not very much really clean-cut work on birds.

The judges were compelled to base their decisions largely on style and action coupled with good ground-working ability. The winner of both novice and all-age stakes was the rather diminutive English setter bitch "Dusky Maiden," a daughter of the well-known bench winner Champion Geoffrey D. This bitch is attractive in action and secured a good point on a pheasant. Second in the all-age was Beau Turner's English setter "Blue Dash." This dog showed excellent ground-working qualities. Third place went to J. Burchett's attractive and good-moving pointer "Sally."

Sally also placed second in the novice stake, third going to B. H. Woolston's "Ramona."

In the puppy stake first place went to Leslie Dicks' Irish setter bitch, "Red Dawn of Killarney." This puppy is exceptionally attractive in action and looks like a "comer." John R. Clark's good-looking English setter, Jay R. C., took second place, third being divided between Geo. Fane's "Rex" and Dr. W. F. Davis's "Sandy," those puppies showing lack of experience.

Tom Brown and Thomas Dicks were the judges.

Sox Hold Lead In Ball Series

CHICAGO — The Cubs went out to stop an old White Sox habit today—that of winning another city baseball title.

Holding three victories to two for the Cubs as the result of their 6 to 4 win over the National League yesterday at Comiskey Park, the Sox sent right-hander Vernon Kennedy after their 15th city baseball championship and their fourth in a row. A win for the Cubs, who will start south-paw Larry French, will change the scene of action from Comiskey Park to the Cubs' home lot, Wrigley Field, for the seventh and final tilt.

In his last New York appearance, Apostoli won on a technical knockout in the 10th from Marcel Thill, European titleholder.

MPHEE DROPS TWO SPRINTS

B.C. Star Beaten By Harry Coleman in 100 and 220 at Saskatoon

SASKATOON—Led by Doug Simpson and Harry Colman, who finished one, two, in the race for individual honors, the University of Manitoba successfully defended the Cairns Trophy, emblematic of the Western Canada intercollegiate track and field championship, at the annual meeting held at the Griffith Stadium here yesterday.

Manitoba also retained the Rutherford Trophy when the brown and gold bedecked co-eds collected more points than the Saskatchewan and Alberta teams combined.

The meeting was conducted under the most miserable weather conditions possible, as a cold wind, at times carrying flakes of snow, swept the stadium throughout the day.

Coleman established his superiority in Western Canada sprint circles by scoring victories over Howie McPhee, University sprinter, in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Coleman defeated McPhee by a matter of inches in the century, but was a good five feet in front at the end of the furlong. He ran the 100 in 9.45.

University of Manitoba men scored 62 points in their victory, with Alberta garnering 33 points, University of British Columbia 27, and University of Saskatchewan finishing last with 22 points.

Make It Two Straight Over Orillia in Canadian Boxla Championship

VANCOUVER — New Westminster Salmonbellies were a single game away from their cherished ambition today to bring the Mann Cup and Canadian senior lacrosse championship west for the first time since they won the title in 1927.

Salmonbellies defeated the present titleholders, Orillia Terriers, 15 to 10, in the second game of the best of five series for the cup here last night. They won the first game Friday at New Westminster, 11 to 9.

The third contest will be played at the Royal City tomorrow evening.

After trailing 10 to 9 midway through the final period, the Fishmen started a spirited rally, aided by Terrier penalties, to score six goals without a reply.

Bill Wilson, fleet left-winger of the New Westminster squad, was the spearhead of the final drive, scoring the goal that evened the count at 10 to 10, and adding a goal and an assist later.

GOT FIVE GOALS

Wilson beat the champions' net-minder, Ray Mortimer, five times during the night and assisted twice.

Hugh "Shipwreck" Kelly kept the Terriers in the fight until the last final 10 minutes with three goals and an assist.

By scoring four markers in the second period to tie the Fishmen's lead, the easterners held a 6 to 4 lead at half time, but Salmonbellies drilled five shots into the net in the third stanza against one reply.

Mortimer turned aside a total of 29 shots against 14 by Pete Anthony in the Westminster net.

College Defeats West Vancouver

Turns Back Barbarians 8 to 6 in Intercity Exhibition Rugby Game

Crossing the mainland line for two tries and scoring one convert, Dan Doswell's blue and gold Victoria College 15, playing their first game this season, turned back the smart West Vancouver Barbarians 8 to 6 at Macdonald Park yesterday in an intercity exhibition rugby game.

The Barbarians missed Tommy Roxborough in the backfield, but turned in a good performance against the heavy College squad. Supremacy in the scrum gave the West Vancouver team many of their breaks. Nine times out of 10 they pushed College back to gain possession.

A loose ball in midfield set the blue and gold for their first break and Colin Lucas snapped up the oval to score for College on a 30 yard run between the posts and the right corner flag. "Bill Noel missed the kick."

The Barbarians forced play back to the College territory and several minutes later on a free kick tied up the score when D'Easum booted cleanly over the crossbar for three points.

COLLEGE HITS STRIDE

Off to a bad start in the backfield, the College men hit their stride as the game progressed and were out-passing the Barbarians when half-time came. Twenty minutes later Doswell's team went over the line on a dribble with Doswell himself falling on the ball. Noel's kick for the extra points was good to put College in the lead 8 to 3.

The blue and gold had the best of the play throughout the remainder of the half and except for the odd fumble in the "three" line gained yardage on most of their plays. The Vancouver boys were feeling the pace toward the end of the half.

SECOND HALF

Ten minutes after the interval West Vancouver threatened to tie up the score and accomplished part of this when they went over from the scrum line with Coppin falling on the ball. From then on they had most of the play their way and did everything but score. Noel stood 'out in the College share of the game. His steady kicking to touch was equalled only by smart ball-handling in the backfield.

K. Symons refereed.

The teams follow:

Barbarians—Patterson, Miles Richards, D'Easum, Macaulay, Montgomery, Chappell, Williamson, Coppin, Robson, Ward, I. Robson, Black, Isaacs and Lofting.

Victoria College—Smith, G. White, C. Lucas, T. Ostler, W. Colvin, M. Symons, Bill Noel, MacLaughlin, Smiley, Mackay, Doswell, Miller, Williams, Brodigan, Adams, Hudson and Macdonald.

Main events will be Allen Mathews, crowd-pleasing St. Louis negro middleweight, and Joe Smallwood, Philadelphia, who signed for the 10-round distance.

New Haven, Conn.—Red Russell, 215, Texas, defeated Rudy Duesk, 215, Omaha, two out of three falls.

FINE ACTION SEEN IN POLO

Large Crowds See Week-end Games; Esquimalt Club Wins Trophy

Several hundred Victorians were treated to some real action over the week-end when they witnessed their first polo games, played between Victoria, Esquimalt and Duncan teams on the Foul Bay Road polo grounds.

Although the sport previously had attracted little attention from the public, turnouts on Sunday and yesterday indicated a keen interest in the game, which augurs well for public interest next year.

In the feature game yesterday the Esquimalt Polo Club took possession of the Cowichan Trophy by defeating Duncan, 6 to 5, in an overtime chukkar. The game was keenly fought throughout and provided the large crowd with some splendid exhibitions of playing and horsemanship.

On Sunday the Duncan quartette took an overtime game from the Victoria Centaurs by a 4 to 3 score. After trailing in a 3 to 0 score for four chukkas, Duncan staged a splendid rally in the fifth chukkar to drive home four goals and win the game.

CUP MATCH CLOSE

M. Deane-Freeman, Esquimalt's hard-riding skipper, and Dr. M. L. Olsen, playing No. 3, led the rural team to victory with two goals each in the cup match. Duncan came from behind in the last minute of the sixth chukkar to even the score at 5 to 5, but the hard-riding Esquimalt team came back with their next tally soon after the overtime chukkar started. Dr. Olsen scored the winning goal. G. G. and Dick Baiss each scored a pair of markers for Duncan.

One of the bright spots of the week-end play was the performance in both games of H. Carberry, No. 4, for Duncan. His accuracy with his shots and his splendid horsemanship drew considerable applause from the crowds.

Peter Lodwick, an experienced polo player from Kamloops, who played two chukkas for Victoria on Sunday, also displayed fine class in his play. With Don Carley and Geoff. Edgelow he shared the goal-getting honors for Victoria. For Duncan each member of the team scored once during the final chukkar, after G. G. Baiss tallied their first in the opening minutes.

Line-ups for yesterday's games and goals scored were: Esquimalt—M. Deane-Freeman (2), D. L. Macdonnell (1), and Dr. M. L. Olsen (2) and A. Landale (1).

Duncan—G. G. Baiss (2); Dick Baiss (2); H. Carberry and B. Dennie (1).

The following took part for Victoria in Sunday's game: Jack Hazelwood, Don Carley, Geoff. Edgelow, Dick Wilson, Dr. J. Sturdy, Peter Lodwick, N. Vander-Vliet and J. Boorman.

W. Stokes refereed yesterday's game and H. R. Rebbitt and Comm. C. H. Slingsby handled Sunday's match.

Young Citizens Plan Activities

A general meeting of the Victoria Central Division of the Young Citizens' League of British Columbia was held in the League headquarters, at the corner of Yates and Langley Streets, last night. Acting-president Peter S. Hartnell in the chair.

Mr. Hartnell announced plans for the formation, at an early date, of a public speaking class and the appointment of George Little as impresario and master of ceremonies, and of C. Montgomery as first assistant general secretary. P. G. Hartnell and Neil B. Butler were nominated as delegates to the Victoria Youth Council.

Plans were made for the League Halloween social to be held Saturday, October 30. Mr. Hartnell also urged that members make greater use of the facilities of the headquarters. The inception of a series of study groups was announced, the first to be held Sunday, October 10, at 3 p.m. The subject chosen was "The Essence of Communism."

The following were accepted for membership in the division of the League: Vernon F. Varney, Leslie Dr. Clark, Miss E. Dorothy Davies, Walter B. Scotney, F. Drew, M. Mudge, R. W. Acton, Duncan C. Furness, F. Stuart and Donald H. Corbett.

Following the meeting, an interesting series of moving pictures, supplied by the Provincial Bureau of Information, was shown by C. R. D. Ferris. The meeting concluded with the serving of refreshments by Miss L. Dorothy Davies, Miss Marie Costello and W. Mossey.

Hopes to Make Team

Perched on her mark, ready for the British Empire Games selection committee's final "Okay" on her nomination as a team member, is Miss Isobel Bleasdel of the Pats Olympic Club, Montreal. She is Quebec's lone successful candidate for the coveted place on the Australia-bound team. Victory in the 220-yard trials dash, a second position in the 100-yard final plus a brilliant season indoors and outdoors since the spring, placed the speedy schoolteacher among the eastern sprint topnotchers.

NORTH SHORE IN HARD-FOUGHT SOCCER WIN

penalty kick when Williams pushed Larsen as he was about to shoot. Rowe blocked Spencer's shot and then pushed the ball around the post when the forward rushed in for the rebound. It was a smart save. The goalie suffered an injured wrist and play was held up while he had the injured member taped.

Early in the second half Payne nearly beat Rabbitt with a snap shot on a cross from Peers. The teams engaged in considerable kick and rush style of football, with plenty of wild kicking. The Shores finally settled down and the Victoria players were hard pressed to keep their goal clear.

The winning goal came after Rowe had saved from McManus, the rebound being taken by Young and crossed to Christie on the opposite wing, the latter driving the ball between the posts with the goalie lying on the ground. Shortly after McManus got the ball away from both Cook and Rowe and shot for the empty net only to hit the post.

Victoria came within an eyelash of tying the score when Cliff Robbins had only Rabbitt to beat from about a yard out, but Cumming rushed across to clear the ball.

Bill Cull refereed.

The teams follow:

North Shore—Rabbitt, Cumming, Harrison, Hewitt, Wardlaw, Costain, Young, Larsen, McManus, Spencer and Christie.

Victoria United—Rowe, Leggett, Cook, Williams, Barnes, G. Robbins, Peers, C. Robbins, Watt, Morgan and Payne.

ANOTHER TEST SOON FOR JUDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday brushed aside two suits challenging the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to sit on the highest tribunal of the United States.

It refused to consider ouster actions proposed by Albert Levitt and Patrick Henry Kelly, attorneys, who contended Black was constitutionally ineligible for the office. Chief Justice Hughes announced neither had sufficient interest in the case to justify instituting the proceedings.

The battle to unseat Black has not been ended, however. Levitt declared other courses of action were open to him and he would make use of one or another of them.

Surprises Feature Yankees' Triumph

Sparkling Play of Lazzeri and Pitching of American Leaguers Highlights

NEW YORK—The "You-Never-Can-Tell" society was still in a huddle today in the wake of the world series, completed Sunday when the Yankees won 4 to 2, and decided baseball's post-season classic is still as unpredictable as ever.

After looking over the wreckage left by the Yankees in their four games to one, conquest of their local rivals, the Giants, they pointed as evidence to these developments:

1. Tony Lazzeri only led both teams in batting with a .400 mark for the five games, and played faultlessly afield, a couple of weeks after announcing he was going to quit the game because he's too old.

2. The Yankees, supposed to be outclassed as a fielding team, played 1,000 ball on the defence for a new all-time record, while the National Leaguers committed nine errors.

3. Babe Ruth's record of 33 runs batted in during 10 world series, supposed to have been safe for a long time, was wiped out of the books by his successor Lou Gehrig, who drove in three this year for a six-series mark of 35.

YANKEE HURLERS SURPRISE

4. Pitchers Carl Hubbell, Cliff Melton, Hal Schumacher et al, were pre-series selections to outdo their Yankee rivals, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing and Monte Pearson, and were going to cause no end of trouble to the American League larrupers. Yet, Hubbell was the only Giant flinger to last the full nine innings, while Gomez, with two victories, and Ruffing and Pearson with one each, stole the elbowing show from all but King Carl.

5. The Yankees were going to rely on their home-run punch to knock the ears off the Giants, yet, only in the last game did they call on their four-base blows to bring victory. Previously, Lazzeri's homer in the first game wasn't to win, and Gehrig's in the fourth didn't stop defeat. On Sunday, the round-trip pokes by Myril Hoag and Joe DiMaggio, neither of which was expected with Melton pitching, were vital factors.

Those items, along with the continued display of batting dynamite exploded by the Yankees, were the standout developments of a series that cracked attendance records for a five-game classic with 238,142 fans turning out and contributing to a new high five-game "gate" of $385,964.

MANY SCOUTS ATTEND MEET

Eighth International Rover Scouts' Conference Concludes Here

Concluding the eighth international Rover Scout conference, the first to be held in Victoria, Scouts from Vancouver, Seattle, Victoria, Sidney and Qualicum returned to their respective homes yesterday.

Over 100 boys attended the feature events on the three-day programme. The conference opened Saturday evening with a banquet in Spencer's dining-room. Freeman King, Rover commissioner for Victoria, presided at the dinner. The guests of honor were: Hew Patterson, representing Lieut. Governor Hamber; John A. Stille, Dominion executive commissioner; W. Solway, provincial executive; Major C. Wise, district scout commissioner; Major H. B. Hunter, assistant commissioner; Rev. A. Bischoff; Charles Hensley, president of the Victoria Scout Association, and Stig Ekstrand, Swedish Rover Scout.

A church service and general discussion took place in the lower auditorium of the Crystal Garden on Sunday. In the evening about 40 Scouts were present at an informal gathering in St. Mary's Boy Scouts headquarters, Oak Bay.

LACROSSE AND A.A.U. SPLIT

VANCOUVER—The Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association today ended its affiliation with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and changed its own name.

At the annual meeting held here, the lacrosse body deleted the word "amateur" from its name, to become the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

Lacrosse thus became the third amateur sport to break with the Dominion Athletic Union. Two years ago the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decided to go its own way, and last year similar action was taken by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

PLAN BONFIRES ON HALLOWE'EEN

Supervised Parties to Be Held Again For City Children

Plans to stage Victoria's second annual civic-sponsored Halloween parties will be discussed at a supper meeting in the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening at 6:15. Tentative suggestions for the programme include bonfires, starting at 7:30, in Victoria West, Beacon Hill, Spencer's and Central Parks, as well as on fields at the corner of St. Charles and Brooke Streets, and somewhere in the vicinity of Hillside and Douglas Streets.

The city will supply wood, peanuts, candy and flares, will rope off the bonfires and provide a park employee and fireman at each bonfire to aid police in supervising the events. St. John Ambulance Society will assist.

As entertainment features the Y.M.C.A. will provide a travelling circus which will visit each fire; the Rainbow Sea Cadets Bugle Band will play and the Y.M.C.A. leaders and V.H.S. Student Council will provide boys to assist the masters of ceremonies.

Other programme details will be left in the hands of the Parent-Teacher Associations, which will be asked to supply M.C.'s and supervise various turns and stunts. In addition to furnishing good fun for the city's children, the project is aimed at providing some outlet for the youngsters' Halloween spirit, which has occasionally found expression in vandalism.

Thieves who entered the home of William Mitchell, 2021 Douglas Street, on Sunday night, ransacked the premises but took nothing, according to a city police report.

One of the biggest moose heads ever seen in Victoria was on display today at Robinson's bicycle store. It was shot by Reg Rigby at Eagle Lake in the Cariboo district on Friday.

Study Boundary Line Hydrants

Vast Majority of Plugs Between Oak Bay and Victoria Owned By City

Victoria owns 13 boundary line hydrants to Oak Bay's one, Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the fire wardens, remarked today as he studied a suggestion from Oak Bay regarding reciprocal use of that equipment should the municipality establish its own fire brigade.

In addition to seven city-owned hydrants actually in Oak Bay there are 14 on the boundary line, from Crescent Road to Fort Street.

That condition would have to be taken into consideration, Alderman Morgan said, when reciprocal use was discussed.

Regarding the question of standby service, which Oak Bay suggested should also be the subject of a reciprocal agreement, Alderman Morgan said no action should be taken until Oak Bay had submitted its loan by-law.

A meeting of the fire wardens was scheduled this afternoon, but the committee may shelve consideration of Oak Bay's letter and deal only with the question of filling two vacancies in the department.

There was a chance the wardens would proceed with consideration of the communication to assist Oak Bay.

STOCK CASES PROSECUTED

Tightening up on administration of the laws governing stock promotions, the government has launched several prosecutions, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said today.

Under E. K. de Beck, commissioner of brokers, the department is devoting its full attention to the supervision of promotions, particularly in mines. Mr. Wismer said, and will insist on full compliance with the law.

Cases now pending involve several operators in Vancouver, the department said.

SPANISH WAR WRITER HERE

Outcome Depends on Britain and France Says London Times Correspondent

The outcome of the war in Spain and to a large extent the future of Europe depends on the attitude taken by France and Great Britain in the immediate future, in the opinion of Lawrence A. Fernsworth, staff correspondent of The London Times in Valencia and president of the Foreign Correspondents' Association in that Spanish government capital.

Mr. Fernsworth, who is also a contributor to Foreign Affairs, Current History, The Fortnightly, The Economist and a number of other newspapers and periodicals, is at the Empress Hotel today in the course of a brief respite from covering the Spanish conflict. He left Valencia in mid-August, and will visit his native Portland, Oregon, San Francisco and New York before returning to Spain in mid-November.

He supports the confidence of the Valencia government that the loyalists will be victorious in the end if no more foreign volunteers join Franco. He sees proof that it is the Italians, Germans and Moors who are Franco's main strength in the fact that the loyalists have been quite willing for a complete withdrawal of foreigners from the war while the rebels have refused even to consider the suggestion.

"If Italy pours in more men and munitions, and England and France do not take counteracting measures, it will be serious for the Spanish government," he said. "Great Britain and France are convinced victory for Franco, in alliance with Germany and Italy, who are traditionally hostile to British interests in the Mediterranean, would upset the Mediterranean equilibrium to which Spain has always been the key, and would be disastrous to British power and French interests."

Mussolini, by calling out three classes of reserves, is repeating the bluff with which he made Great Britain stand down in the Ethiopian crisis, Mr. Fernsworth believes.

"The question is whether this latest bluff will also cause Great Britain and France to recede from their positions."

"I do not think it will be so easy this time, because England is aroused, and France even more so."

Mr. Fernsworth has represented The London Times in Spain for the last six years, since the republic was proclaimed. He was interested in the Canadian attitude towards the war in Spain and also towards the present situation in the Orient.

With regard to the latter, he did not believe Russia was likely to enter the fight in the near future. He did not think the country was prepared for war as yet, and added that strength on land was not enough, and that the Russian Pacific seaboard would be gravely endangered because of the lack of Soviet naval power.

ISLAND LOGGER FATALLY HURT

Jens Tolver, 34, Victim of Speeder Accident Near Bowser

Thrown under a rail speeder as he was returning from work on Saturday evening, Jens Tolver, 34, hook tender at the Thomson and Clark Timber Company, Bowser, was instantly killed as the speeder passed over him.

Tolver was thrown by the jar of the speeder when its front axle broke, but how he was thrown underneath, none of his companions on the speeder knew. G. Ceason, Charles Janski and W. J. Buss, also passengers on the speeder, were thrown off and received various injuries, while William Muir, the operator, was unhurt.

According to advices reaching Provincial Police divisional headquarters here, Muir had slowed the speeder to about 10 miles an hour preparatory to stopping to allow some of the men off. As he was braking the machine the front axle snapped.

Ceason and Janski were taken to the Nanaimo Hospital suffering from rib fractures. Tolver was a Dane and resided at 1046 Granville Street, Vancouver.

An inquest will be held this evening at Courtenay.

The annual dinner of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held this evening at 6:30 in Spencer's dining-room. Alderman T. W. Hawkins will be a guest, and motion pictures in color of the jubilee parades and the Shrine convention will be shown.

Forest Revenue At High Mark

Government Receipts in 1936 Placed at $3,435,000

The forests of British Columbia produced $3,435,502 in revenue to the government last year, according to a report to be submitted to the Legislature this month end.

This is a recovery of more than $1,400,000 from 1933, which was the low point in revenue since the 1929 boom. It is $335,000 greater than 1935.

The largest item in forest revenue is that obtained from timber royalty and taxes which amounted last year to $1,912,268, up $330,000 from the previous year. Timber license rentals brought in $610,421 and timber sale stumpage $398,868. Taxation from crown-grant timber lands amounted to $310,260.

Expenditures on administration of the forest branch were $354,000, excluding forest protection and the forest reserve account.

The forest protection fund, the report notes, has been remarkably improved in the last six years. A deficit of $651,962 in April, has been reduced to $111,565 as at last December 31.

Adventures in Tibet
I—CROSSING A DESERT

Forty-four years ago a Swedish explorer named Sven Hedin led a small caravan into Tibet. This great region in central Asia contains, close to half a million square miles, but it is thinly populated. It contains an average of hardly seven persons to the square mile. Even to this day, Tibet is not very well known to people of the western world.

Hedin took off his boots and filled them.

When Hedin started his journey, Tibet was more of a mystery land than it is today. He set out across the Takla Makan, a desert of large size. Part of his route led over ground never before explored by a white man.

Sand dunes of great size blocked the way in some places. There was nothing to do but to climb over them. Some of the camels died.

After the water supply had given out, Hedin opened a small lamp-stove which had been brought along. Pouring out the lamp fuel—Chinese brandy—he drank it. The brandy seemed to quench his thirst for the time being, but it was not fit to drink and made him sick.

As the days passed, several men in the party died, but Hedin and his servant, Kasim, were able to keep toiling onward. They were almost exhausted when they saw some bushes and small trees in the distance.

Walking as fast as their tired feet would take them, they reached the wooded spot. There they saw the bed of a river, but it was dry! Kasim dropped down on the ground and lay at full length. He was so thirsty and tired that he could go no farther.

Hedin walked along the river bed until night came. Then the bright moon showed him the way. Suddenly he heard a splash from behind some bushes. A moment later he saw a water bird rise into the air. It had risen from a little pool left in a deep part of the river bed.

Reaching the pool, Hedin leaned over and drank the fresh clear water. Then he took off his boots and filled them.

In a few hours, the explorer got back to the place where he had left his companion. Kasim was still alive, and the water in the boots gave him new strength. (For Adventure or Travel section of your scrapbook.)

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 20 years old. Married at 17. Have a little girl two years old. My husband is as good a man as any one could find. Has no bad habits. Is kind and affectionate and devoted to me. Very thrifty and provides generously for me. But I am dissatisfied and don't know what to do. Don't even know whether I love my husband or not. Think I don't because I get no thrill from being with him or from his caresses. I want to go places and have good times and stay young. He wants to stay at home. I have a high-school education and could easily get a college education if it were not for him. I want to go in training for a nurse. Could leave my little daughter with my mother. At the time I was married I saw marriage as a free life, a way to escape the close rules my family had raised me by and a way to get out of this small town, which I always hated. If I leave my husband and become a trained nurse and go my own way, will my child have as good a chance in life as if I stayed with my husband who can provide amply for us? There is no other man in the case. Perhaps I have never known love, only childish fancy. Perhaps I love my husband and don't know it. Who knows? And how am I to choose the right path?

Answer—Yours, poor little pathetic wife, is just another of the millions of tragedies that are the result of too early marriages. You married before you knew what you were going to be yourself, or what you wanted in a husband, and before you had had any playtime. Now you are restless and dissatisfied because you are wanting all the things that you have missed and out of which you cheated yourself.

You want to be free, to play and dance and go places and have the pleasures that belongs by rights to your time of life. But you can't have them because you are tied down with a husband and baby and house and responsibilities of a married woman. You don't know whether you love your husband or not because you can't compare what you feel for him with the fancies that you might have had for Tom, Dick and Harry, nor his attractions with theirs. Even your baby is a burden to you because you weren't old enough for motherhood, nor ready for it, so that it would have made taking care of a little child the most interesting and exciting thing in the world.

But it is too late to think of all that now and to shed any tears over the spilt milk of your lost girlhood. Of your own will you married, and now you must make the best of it and try not to make your good husband pay for your mistake. He has shown you nothing but kindness and tenderness, and it would be a dastardly, cruel thing for you to break up his home and take away from him the child he loves, just because being married isn't just what you thought it would be.

A lot of girls make this same mistake. They think that marriage is going to be sentiment and romance and a perpetual petting party and that they will live in a state of bliss. They are disgruntled and disappointed when they find that marriage is work, responsibility and self-sacrifice, doing their duty and being taken for granted, and that a man and woman who live together day after day and year after year may be the best of friends and companions, but that they cease thrilling when they become a habit to each other.

Lots of girls marry, as you did, to get away from strict homes and because they thought they would be free, then found that no woman in the world has so little freedom as the married woman who is tied down with a husband and children and house.

So that is another mistake that you made for which you must pay. Just because you have a husband and a child you cannot leave them and go off to study to be a nurse or follow a career. You haven't any right to deprive your husband of a wife, or your child of a mother's care. You haven't any right to turn your husband out on the community to board or live in a club, and you certainly haven't any right to force your mother to take care of your child. That is your chore.

BIG BOATS TO CONTINUE RUN

Kathleen and Marguerite May Operate on Triangle Route For Winter.

After one of the busiest tourist seasons in years with record crowds handled daily throughout the summer in the triangle service, the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. may retain the crack steamers Princess Kathleen and Princess Marguerite on the Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle route throughout the winter, it was intimated at the offices of the company today.

Usually when the summer travel rush is over the Kathleen and Marguerite are withdrawn about the middle of October and replaced by the Charllette and Alice, but the present schedule provides for no immediate change.

Instead of the four hours flat during the peak of the travel season, the larger Princesses are now being operated more economically on a steaming schedule of four and a half on the Victoria legs of the triangle service.

Whether or not the big boats will be continued in service throughout the winter will, of course, depend upon the amount of business offering. If the traffic is maintained to warrant the service it will be continued.

The Kathleen and Marguerite were drydocked during the season for overhaul and are in splendid shape to continue in the service for an indefinite period.

This will be the first time since the depression that these vessels have been continued in the Vancouver and Seattle services out of this port after the rush of the seasonal travel was over.

Visual education, by means of films and slides, is widely used in public schools of Rochester, N.Y., home town of a big camera and film industry.
